Internet Training: Upcoming Classes

Our Internet training series is going very well. We are adding two new features to this program.

1. We are developing a course tailored to seasonal employees who will be arriving for work this summer. This will be a two-hour crash course designed to show you the ABCs of running Lodge-ical on a day to day basis.
2. We are offering custom internet training classes. If you are interested in personalized training, but do not want to consider onsite training, then think about designing your own agenda for an internet training class. We will review the agenda to ensure that your course content can fit into a manageable 2 hour time period.

Please contact us if you are interested in any of the above options.

User Tip: Our Lodge-ical Newsletters are now Archived

We have archived our newsletters on our website. They are located on our website at:

New Feature: User Security module

We showed some of our clients our new user security module and it was happily received. This new functionality will be ready to begin delivery this month. The module costs $300, however for those clients who are using Lodge-ical version 7.0 and are in good standing, we are offering a special offer of $200 if we receive payment prior to March 31, 2010. Contact us for more information.
